Supernatural, Michael/Gabriel/Lucifer, They punish Gabriel for leaving them

R, darkfic, warning for violence and unkind things done to wings. I've no idea when this takes place - it's AU.

"Loyalty," Lucifer says, "is something you desperately need to learn, little brother."

Gabriel twists under Michael's hands, shakes as Lucifer draws fingers through his hair, but he is helpless in their hold.

Lucifer kneels on Gabriel's back, presses a kiss to Gabriel's cheek, and reaches to grip the base of his wing.

"No, no no no," Gabriel says, but his hands are still in Michael's grip, and he can do nothing.

He is helpless as Lucifer summons his blade, and Gabriel screams as his wing is severed.

"Loyalty," Lucifer murmurs, "rather, the lack of it - that has led you here, Gabriel."

Michael reaches to touch Gabriel's cheek, to catch his tears, and when Lucifer holds out his blade, Michael takes it.

"No, please, anything," Gabriel begs, helpless, desperate not to lose everything.

"You have more," Lucifer says. "and there is a second part to your crime. You left us," here he rubs Gabriel's stump, studies how it bleeds, "and,"

Michael holds the blade to Gabriel's other wing.

"You didn't come back," Lucifer finishes.

Michael makes the cut, and it is over.

Gabriel can't hide anything, is weak in their hands when they lift him. Michael kisses them, then Lucifer, and it is a mockery of an embrace.

"We won't hesitate to do this again," Lucifer murmurs, and Michael nods agreement.

"Don't run from us again."
